

LoveBeat

This mobile application is for all lovesick teenagers who wish to share their heartbeat with their beloved one. Back camera of your mobile phone will collect your pulse and application will transform it to sound which you can share with your love.

Your most intimate and original sound

Application will measure your heart rate via back camera from your skin and transform these pulses to soothing sound and pulsing heart on screen. You can share this sound with the other user of application. You can simultaneously listen to thumping of your partner. For comfortable falling asleep you can turn the screen and sound fade out function.
